THE CLIQUE

Ben Farrier, a member of the Jersey City Chamber of Commerce, read an original poem at the recent "Hudson County Play Day." It is worth repeating:

What is "The Clique"? 'Tis a body of men

Who attend every meeting, not just now and then,

Who don't miss a meeting unless they are sick—

These are the men that grouch
calls "The Clique";

Who don't make a face of the magic word, "Work,"

Who believe in the motto—"Not a job will I shirk,"

Who never resort to an underhand trick,

These are the men that some call
"The Clique";

The men who are seldom behind in their dues,

And who from the meeting do not carry news;

Who attend to their duties and don't seek a kick,

These are the men that the crank
calls "The Clique";

We all should be proud of members like these.

They can call them "The Clique" or whatever they please,

But there are some people, who always find fault,

And some of this kind are not worth their salt;

They like to start trouble but seldom will stick—

And leave all the work to be done
by "The Clique";

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—A suit of $2,000,000 against Hugo Stinnes, Jr., son of the late industrial king with the signing of special papers by Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard.

The suit alleges breach of con-

Stinnes, Jr. by James A. Tillman, an American business man and formerly adviser and confidential agent

Tillman's affairs have recently been played in the hands of a receiver and the receiver, Morris P.
Schaffer, a New York attorney, today asked Judge Goddard to substitute him as receiver for the plaintiff so that the case could be brought to trial at once. Judge Goddard signed the papers this

San Diego Believes It Would Be Better Off If Tia Juana Were Wiped Off the Map, Says Mayor

By OTIS M. WILES
(By Universal Service)
SAN DIEGO, Feb. 19.—San Diego would be better off if there was no Tia Juana, in the opinion of Mayor John L. Bacon of this city.

Mayor Bacon, in a statement to Universal Service this afternoon, assailed the Border Resort as a detriment to San Diego rather than an asset, either financial or moral. His attack refutes the general impression that San Diego subsists to a large extent upon the tourist population attracted to this city by the freedom of drink awaiting them at the border beyond.

"San Diego cannot hope to wipe Tia Juana from the map," Mayor Bacon said. "All that we in San

COUNTESS VERA WINS WRIT AND WILL NOT SAIL FOR ENGLAND

Her Case

By CHARLES B. PARKER
(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The Acquitania sails tomorrow, but the cozy little cabin which secretary of labor Davis' men had provided for the Countess Cathcart will be vacant; for she won a writ of habeas corpus today, and remains on Ellis Island until Tuesday morning when Federal Judge Goddard hears arguments for her admittance to this land of the free.

The Countess was in jovial mood after hearing this news.
"Oh, that's always the com-back of a small man who will not go into the merits of the case. Now here's what big man says—"

From a stack of 300 letters and telegrams she had received she opened this one from the renowned Mike McGuffee, once the pride and champion of the world's light-heavyweight cauliflower brigade:

"I am an Irishman and a prizefighter, but I don't like the way the American people have handled your case. If you need any funds kindly let me know."

A suspicion of a tear came into her eyes when she said:
"And to think, this from an Irishman to an Englishwoman!"

Prince of Wales Takes a Peek at The Other Side

President Salary Declared Exempt From Income Tax

By JOHN A. KENNEDY

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—President Coolidge has been saved $20,000 on his personal income tax as the result of an interesting ruling made in his favor by the bureau of internal revenue of the Treasury Department, it became known today.

The ruling not only permits the refund to the president of all income taxes paid on his $75,000 a year salary, as chief executive but establishes the Presidential salary as tax exempt in the future.

The president, it is understood, already has received a refund of about $7,000 for taxes paid by him on his salary for the first half year he was in office.

The ruling also has saved him an additional $13,000 based on the rate of tax he would have had to pay for the year 1924 it is understood.

In its ruling the bureau tells that Congress has fixed the salary of the president at $75,000 a year and that he therefore is entitled to receive the full amount without impairment by taxes in any form.

It is in ruling the bureau tells

of the president at $75,000 a year
and that he therefore is entitled to receive the full amount without impairment by taxes in any form.

It is the most elaborate plan of farm relief yet proposed to Congress.

By the grant of such loans, the Democrats expect the purchasing power of the foreign buyers of American surplus crops would be expanded by $1,000,000,000. The money thus loaned, it is said, would immediately flow to American farmers, giving them the necessary funds to carry on until the income from their domestically-sold crops began to pour in.

The money would be loaned on the extent of the surplus crops anticipated in advance of the yield.

Senator Robinson and Representative Oldfield, Democratic leaders in Senate and House, filed identical bills embracing the plan in both branches of Congress today.
The House agricultural committee announced hearings will begin March 1.

GERMANY NOT TO OPPOSE A POLISH SEAT

European Chancellors Finally

NEGOTIATIONS CONTINUE

Germany to Be Only National Admitted During Special Session to Be Held Soon

(By Universal Service)

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—The battle among European chancellors over seats in the League of Nations council, which started when Germany applied for membership has ended in a compromise. The compromise was hinted at by Foreign Minister Stresemann in a discussion at the foreign affairs committee of the Reichstag today.

While negotiations were still continuing, it is likely that the compromise will take the following form:

Germany carries her point that she is to be the only nation to be admitted at the special session in March receiving a permanent council seat as promised.

In return Germany agrees not to oppose the granting of permanent seats to other nations including Poland at the regular session ficially as a full fledged member.

Two Miners Are Killed In Blast At Oceanic Mine

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., Feb. 19.
—One man was killed and two injured, perhaps fatally, in a rock blast at the Oceanic Mine, in Cambria, thirty miles north of here, today.

The dead man is Antone Freitas.
The injured are Joe Manca and John Sebastian. All were miners.

The three men had just entered the mine after a blast. Gas created by the explosion was ignited by an electric spark, according to mine officials, and a second explosion followed.

The three men were burned by the flaming gas and suffocated by poisonous fumes.

Sebastian and Manca managed to make their way to safety, but Freitas, knocked unconscious, was left inside.

M. A. Roche mine superintendent, braving the poisonous fumes and the possibility of a third blast entered the mine and rescued Freitas to the open.

The explosion occurred at the six-foot level of the mine, one of the oldest in the state, reopened recently after many years of idleness.

A similar explosion took place January 7, when one man was killed and five others injured. At that time the blast was said to have been caused by the open lamps worn by the miners. Electric lamps were substituted, but the mine authorities stated today that they believe it was a spark from one of these lamps that caused the explosion.

THWARTING THE MOB

Almost simultaneously the states of Delaware, New York and Kentucky found it necessary to take military measures against mob interference with the lawful and orderly operation of the courts. In New York the authorities found it expedient to provide a military guard to protect a witness from possible violence at the hands of criminal associates of the defendant. In the Kentucky and Delaware cases the soldiers were called out in order that the states might not be disgraced by lynchings and might fulfill the American guarantee of the right to a jury trial.

These measures, though not a little humiliating to the American people as a whole, nevertheless were highly commendable, in that they manifested an increasing determination to vindicate the institution of jury trial and to thwart lynch law. In the Delaware instance a blood-thirsty mob was not intimidated by the mere presence of the militia but had to be dispersed with tear-gas bombs and machine guns.

Might there not have been in these three mobs some who elsewhere are the first to defend the constitution and stoutly insist upon its enforcement, article by article? And yet they, in their moment of brute passion and distorted sense of justice, would have violated the very fundamentals of that constitution had they not been forcibly restrained.

Officials who prevent mob violence are deserving of as much public confidence and approbation as citizens who take the law into their own hands by virtue of strength of numbers merit public distrust and reprobation.

NO ISSUE YET

The democratic party is always solemnly humorous in its deliberations but it has really surpassed all past records in the sessions it has been holding in Washington and New York for the purpose of discovering or manufacturing issues of the 1926 campaign. Even a most careful reading of all the newspaper reports of these sessions fail to reveal that the party leaders were able to do more than confirm their own worse misgivings, that they were down and out and apt to remain in that condition for sometime to come. The New York World which perpetually views the democratic party as enshrined in rainbow glory, confesses its disappointment at the results of the conferences. The World agrees that the democrats may make an issue out of the tariff, but it hints that the successful role for democratic rejuvenation leads along the lines of recrimination, charges and innuendos. Apparently about the most successful thing the democrats accomplish at their sessions was the disposal of the food prepared for their entertainment.

Dongan of New York

Late in the seventeenth century there was an Irishman named Dongan at the head of the government in the New York colony. He seemed to be a pretty capable sort of man. His colony was fairly easy to handle, for the people were peaceful, the charter generous enough and he was under orders not to interfere with his English neighbors to the south. He had no intention of interfering. He was as eager to let well enough alone as they were eager to have him. There was just one matter that perplexed him. The French to the north of him were being difficult neighbors.

The governor of Virginia and Dongan of New York came to a meeting in Albany. A number of Indian chiefs came also. The purpose of the meeting was to get on some common ground with their savage neighbors and have a better understanding with them. At this meeting the fierce Iroquois were persuaded to acknowledge themselves subjects of England.

Oh, there was quite a ceremony. There were hatchets buried to signify their wish for peace and prosperity. And the coat of arms of the Duke of York was to be put over the walls of all the fortified towns of the Iroquois. It looked as though an era of peace had come to displace the days of fear and dread of the Indian tribes.

The Iroquois themselves had never forgotten or forgiven the French who, under Champlain years back, had brought firearms against them. They were like the elephants who never forget. They were always against France.

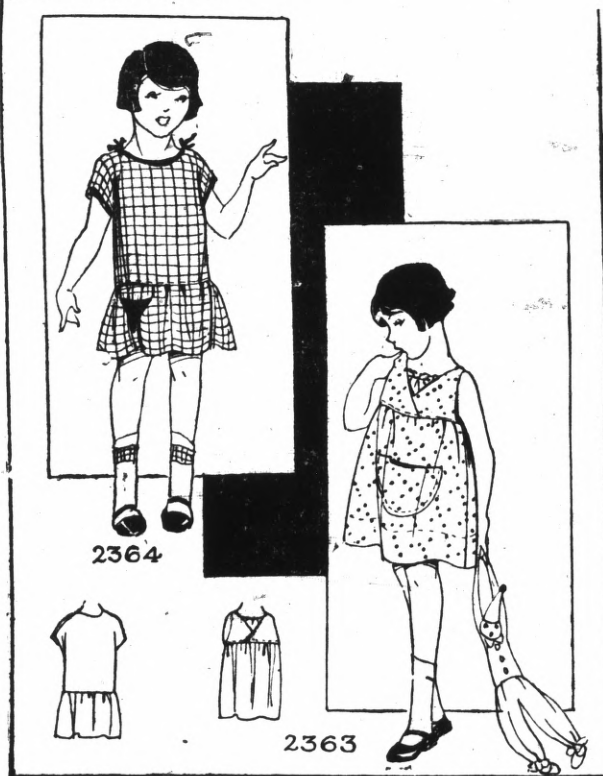

But France was not particularly happy over having them swear allegiance to the crown of England either. For that would mean that the English controlled property which extended clear up to Lake Ontario.

After a while Dongan himself went back to England. Perhaps he told about how matters stood between the English and the French. At any rate, at about this time the English King James decided to join all the colonies north of Pennsylvania in a sort of federation, that they might unite in case of war with the French colonists.

PICTORIAL REVIEW

PRO-ARGUMENTS OF JUNIOR MODES

Here are two eloquent arguments in favor of the new fashions for children. Without question the little frock to the left upholds the claim that nothing is smarter for its development than check gingham or voile. It also may be fashioned of taffeta or crepe de Chine. The neck may be finished in V or round outline, and the sleeves extended to full length if desired. Medium size requires 1 1/2 yard 36-inch material. The charming little apron to the right, carried out in printed cotton. The two-piece gathered skirt is attached to a yoke that is cut in four sections, crossing in surplice effect front and back. Ostrich Trimmed Gown

THE novel feature of this peach chiffon frock, worn by Kathleen Key, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, is her skirt. Very long ostrich feathers, uncurled, cover the skirt and all below the hem. They are attached at the low waist line with pearl beads, and strands of pearl beads also hang from the waist to below the hem.

PROFESSOR NOODLE

Dear Professor:

I want a man who can command respect from all throughout the land! A man who's sure to carve his name upon the golden hall of fame! I want a man who'll stick to work, and dig with all his might! Whom I'll laugh at obstacles that lurk, and sweep them from his sight! But ah! dear Prof., I somehow feel— I'll never find this grand ideal!

Laura Jean Liverwurst

Ah, say not so, my doleful child!

Just see this list which I've compiled:

Now here's the first you'll have to land—

a traffic cop who can command.

And one who knows the cutting game,

a butcher who will carve his name.

A paperhanger, neat and slick, who to his work will always stick.

An undertaker, strong and big,

this baby sure knows how to dig.

When obstacles come in a heap—

a while wing whill be there to sweep.

Most wives will say that from one man sufficient grief they do derive, but since one man won't fit your plan, you'll simply have to marry five!

SYNOPSIS

Gregory Cochran, prominent lawyer and politician, has rescued Molly Stanton, university student, who is plunged into the river, against the protests of his aristocratic mother, is sheltering her in his own home. The girl, not yet fully recovered from shock, is still expendent. She was heartbroken over the treachery of her fiancé, Stephen Renfro, who has married the daughter of "rich old Jim-Ditworth."

CHAPTER XVI—Continued

Exactly ten minutes later he rose with a business-like finality. He was not looking at Molly—little more than a dent now in the counterpane, her face deep in the pillows—but at the watch.

"There's one thing still," he said. "I want you to give me your word that for a week beginning now, ten-fifteen Thursday morning, you won't try to take advantage of Aunt Lindy's absence or her carelessness. She's old and apt to fall asleep. It's out of the question, of course, for me to stay, and I'd rather not complicate matters with nurses."

"It's not my fault I'm here, you know." The voice from the pillows was small, stifled, but obstinate.

"True enough. And, incidentally," he smiled, "I did make me take that early-morning dip, didn't you? At all events, if by his time next Thursday you are still of the same mind, I promise you I shan't put a straw in your way. Well—do you give me your word?"

She nodded—just perceptibly—without taking her head out of the pillows.

"That's splendid," he said with satisfaction. "Ah, and here's Aunt

"Merse Greg ter see you, honey," he announced.

Lindy in the nick of time with her breakfast. I shouldn't call it a breakfast if it were mine," he added cheerfully. "But—it may pass for one with you!"

"I don't want any breakfast," of course you don't. That's not saying it will do you any harm, though. Oh, Aunt Lindy!" he turned to the little old black woman who was just entering the door with a tray in her hands. "We seem to have spilled these powders here"—he indicated the blotch at his feet—"but perhaps it's just as well. I have an idea we shan't need any more...."

CHAPTER XVII

On the following Thursday Molly sat near one of the windows of the room whose walls had bounded her life now for three weeks, staring out somberly at a white sector of graveled drive just visible through a tall planting of shrubbery. The first crisp hint of autumn was in the air and Aunt Lindy had wrapped her from throat to toe in an enormous blanket robe of blue, which threw into startling relief the whiteness of her skin and the darkened corner of her eyes. Out-of-doors, a subtle change was everywhere to be detected. A certain faintly tinselled and spangled effect—in the sunshine, in the air itself and in the tint of leaves, which were spinning and whirling and drifting wingedly downward.

She glanced at the clock on the mantel opposite. Twelve minutes after ten. She had given her word only until ten-fifteen. She leaned forward, rested her weight tentatively against the screen of the French window—three stories from the ground. It was secured only by a light hook at the bottom. He had trusted her, then.... At this juncture Aunt Lindy, who had hobbled out of the room a few minutes earlier on one of her abrupt and flitting absences, threw open the door with a f flourish. "Merse Greg ter see you, honey," she announced with all the pomp and ceremony of the king's chief clerk.

Molly knew now who he was. That knowledge added the final drop—if one had been needed—to her bitterness and shame. He was the man who had given her her scholarship. How he must despise her.... That she should be accepting further kindness from him—hospitality, even—was intolerable. She could not bring herself to look at him, but went on staring drearily out of the window.

He drew up a chair and sat down near her. "By the way, do you happen to know what morning it is?" he continued.

"Yes, it's Thursday and"—she glanced briefly at the clock—"ten-fifteen."

He laughed. I didn't mean the day of the week. Do you know what day of the month it is?" She shook her head indifferently. "It's the twenty-seventh of September."

When she showed no interest, he added, "The university opens on the first of October."

Molly made no comment on that. Instead—still without looking at him—she said abruptly, "I want you to give me back my promise."

There was a moment's hesitation, or perhaps it was only his usual deliberateness of manner. Finally, "That was what I wanted to talk to you about...."

"You do give it back, then?"

When there was again a pause, she hurried on in the dull, insistent monotone: "I've thought it all over my mother, the children, my scholarship—everything. But it's too dreadful. I can't—I haven't the courage. I haven't any courage at all—I haven't anything." She broke off and fixed her eyes on the white sector of driveway.

"Of course I give it back," he conceded after a time, "but the trouble is, suicide never settles anything."

"At least it can—rid me—of this." Face averted, she made a strengthless gesture of unutterable abhorrence toward herself.

"My poor child, you think you are hurt in your soul, don't you? All your life you've had it hammered into you that the soul can be defiled. The truth is, the soul is like flame—clean like flame. You can't smother flame, can you?" "I don't know. The flame in me has—gone out."

"If the tree is young and—full of sap," Cochran pointed out in his mildly argumentative fashion, "you can put it together and make it grow." He was silent a little. Then he leaned forward, one big, firmly knitted hand on either knee.

"That's what I want you to let me do for you."

She shook her head. "You can't—nobody can."

"I'm not so sure. By your own account, you've thrown your life away, disclaimed it. How would it be if you sign it over to me—just chuck the responsibility, as you might say?"

"That's impossible," she said drearily. "One person can't take the responsibility for another."

"At least we could try it. You see, I have a deep, ingrained aversion to waste, to useless destruction."

"Let us suppose, just for argument, that I have taken charge—that I have decided you are to go back to school on Monday. As a matter of fact," he got up, his feet with the effect of having arrived at a vital issue, "I've made the necessary arrangements at the dormitory for you already. That seems better under the circumstances than Mrs. Parker's."

"No—no—Molly put out her hands as if to thrust the suggestion from her—not that. I tell you I haven't the courage. Besides," her hands dropped in her lap, her head sank forward again, "I'm not—fit. They wouldn't even take me if they knew...."

"They don't know."

"At least they know about—Stephen. Oh, I can't—I can't face it. Don't ask me...."

"There is such a thing as just accepting a situation. Once you've done that, it's the simplest matter in the world. You have only to live over it—clear of it—serene as a god above the storm you were talking about a while ago."

Molly lifted her head and looked at him—with the first gleam of interest she had shown. "That's the way you live, isn't it?" she said. "Serene as a god above a storm...."

She repeated the words musingly. They had a pleasant, rhythmic sound. What was that other phrase she had liked? Oh yes, "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High...."

They had the same feeling. He laughed and glanced at his watch. "I do take things pretty much as they come," he confessed. At this juncture there was a rap at the door. It opened and revealed—not Aunt Lindy—but the magnificent white-haired woman Molly had seen in the box.

Several members of the Richmond Den of Lions were given special mention by the newly chartered Pittsburg den, including Wilbur S. Pierce, president of the local club, John A. Miller, member of the club extension work who fostered the Pittsburg den during their first activities. Art Harris, secretary, Denny Shaw, 100-percent attendance member, J. O. The president, Wilbur Pierce, was mentioned as a master orator, and as being particularly popular, and a favorite with youngsters, heralded as proof of his kindness.

John A. Miller is dubbed the "Daddy" of Pittsburg den, and rightly so, as it was he who has been pushing actions toward the chartering of the brother den. Miller has charge of income tax reports in Richmond.

BARRYMORE IN SPLENDID ROAD AT CALIFORNIA

Set in California during the hectic gold rush days of '49, "The Splendid Road," which had its premiere showing last night, is one of the nearest blendings of romance, beauty and suspense that have ever graced our local screen.

Anna Q. Nilsson, Lionel Barrymore and Robert Frazer—splendid players all—vied with each other in giving their interpretations. In the end it was impossible to decide which of them gave the best performance.

"The Splendid Road" is the first picture based on the early history of the West that illustrates the fact that possibly more people came from the East by ship around Cape Horn than by covered wagon. It describes the hardships that they knew and with tenderness pays a glowing tribute to the character of the women who were among the early settlers.

A clipper ship of the period, 100 days out from Boston, serves as the background for the early action of the play, and the bustling little frontier town of Sacramento with its numerous gambling halls and its lawlessness, is the setting for the balance of the story. The historical flood which drove the squatters from the appropriated property after other means had failed, is graphically pictured.

"The Splendid Road" is decidedly worth while.

Other features on the same program include "A Woman of Letters."

Largest Gross Per Acre Is Brought by Cal. Lettuce Crop

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Lettuce brought the biggest return per acre of all California crops, averaged over the years 1921 to 1924, according to Professor R. L. Adams, of the College of Agriculture, University of California. The gross return for this table delicacy was $602 per acre, with celery ranking next with a return of $584 an acre, and asparagus fourth with $320 an acre. From there on in the order named the rank of California fruit and vegetables was as follows: Cherries, pears, cantaloupes, oranges, onions, prunes, cabbage, canned peaches and sweet potatoes.

The average gross price received for lettuce was $2.41 per case with 250 packed cases per acre, Professor Adams did not show the net returns.

Map Book of City Is Being Prepared

A complete map book of the city of Richmond is being completed by the Thomas Brothers Map Company of Oakland and Los Angeles. It is expected that the book will be ready for distribution next month.

Every lot in the city will be mapped and its owner designated. The book will also record all transfers and sales.

About ten years ago a plat of the city was worked out but the rapid growth of this community renders the old map obsolete.

Smart New Modes Introduced for Spring Wear

Green Lee, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, in a novel frock, one side of which is black, the other white. Note the contrast in sleeves.

The tailor with the long double-breasted "Prince of Wales" coat is introduced for spring wear by Green Lee, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player.

Gray is the new shade for spring, as sponsored by Gertrude Olmsted in this charming afternoon frock of gray chiffon, featuring the tight bodice and full pleated skirt.

By KAY MERRILL

Early forecasts for the new spring season of 1926 predict much of the old in addition to much that is new. Short skirts continue to be short—and even shorter, deers Paris. Colors are gay and bright, materials for sports wear soft and fine, and lines straight or flared, as one prefers.

The tailor, always popular for street wear in early spring makes its bow this season in many new variations. One of the smartest in chic tailors that the smart woman will be wearing is the suit with the double-breasted tailored coat which is slightly fitted and which is long enough to touch the top of the hem of the skirt, such as Green Lee, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player shown in the center illustration, wears in her latest production.

Kasha and soft homespun are the important fabrics in the world of sports wear. Among the new and brighter shades to be worn are canary yellows and bright greens, with warmer shades coming in for their share of attention as the spring season wanes into summer. The two-piece jumper frock that has so firmly held hold of popular fancy recently is as firmly entrenched in popular favor as ever, both in gay colored sport frocks, smart afternoon costumes and evening dresses.

One of the fads introduced this season is the two-toned frock, such as the one Green Lee is wearing in the photograph at the left. Note that one side is fashioned of black silk, with the other side of white, and that one sleeve is long, the other short. At the extreme right Gertrude Olmsted, another Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, wears a charming new afternoon gown of gray chiffon, featuring the tight bodice and wide skirt.

Industrial Tourist Is California's New Genus Homo

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—California has a new genus homo—the industrial tourist. He has been officially labeled as such by the larger employment services.

In a forecast of labor conditions in California for 1926, Murray Ready, one of the larger employment offices, says "another factor is the great number of workers who have their own cars, enabling them to move from section to section without any great expense, thereby more evenly distributing themselves. These we know as industrial tourists."

The industrial tourist is a different species than the agricultural migratory worker in California, who also uses the automobile to follow the crops through the state during the harvest seasons.

Business Houses to Close On Monday

In honor of the memory of George Washington, practically every public institution in Richmond will close its doors on Monday. The Richmond Merchants' association have agreed to this serve the occasion as a holiday, and the city offices, schools and banks will be closed.

MARTINEZ, Feb. 19.—A $300 fine was assessed on C. A. Gray pleaded guilty this morning before Judge H. V. Alvarado. He confessed to having sold liquor there since 1923.

Carrier Pigeon Is Found by Fireman

Returning home late Thursday night, James Towers, a fireman on the Richmond fire department, found a carrier pigeon flying over his house on the street near Ripley on Sixth street.

Apparently from the bird's condition, it had traveled a long distance. Towers took the bird to his home at 622 Twenty-first street where he is living for it.

The only mark upon the bird was a silver band on each leg. On the right leg the marks were "A-21 P. H. P. 211," on the left leg the marks were "A. V. 21 P. 4291."

In each case the "21" was being on the side between "A" and "P" the letter that followed it.

Alturas, Modoc county—More than five hundred deer were killed by hunters in Modoc county during 1925.

John E. Hughes, a former resident of Richmond received fatal injuries yesterday when he was crushed between two freight cars while working in the West Oakland Southern Pacific yards.

Hughes was found by fellow workers who rushed him to the company's emergency hospital. Later he was removed to the Oakland Emergency hospital, where he died three hours later.

He was forty years old, and had lived in Richmond for a number of years. He was a prominent member of the local Elks' club. He was employed by the Southern Pacific as a switchman on the belt line here before it was turned over to the Santa Fe.

INDIVIDUAL ONLY CAN PLAN HIS PERSONAL BUDGET

By S. W. STRAUS,
President American Society for Thrift.

There are any rule to be followed in budgeting one's personal and household expenses.

This excerpt from a letter recently received reflects the attitude of many persons on the same subject.

What percentage of one's income should be saved? What is a fair proportion to be paid for rent, food, fuel, education, recreation and other items of outgo?

No general rule can apply to all cases. The standards of thrift necessarily must vary with circumstances. In fact one of the elements of thrift practice is to make a study of one's problems and gain added wisdom and resourcefulness herefrom.

Some time ago the United States Government Savings System issued a statement that a thrifty man should spend 50 per cent of his income for living expenses; 10 per cent for education; 10 per cent for saving; 10 per cent for recreation and save 20 per cent. The Treasury Department has stated that a family of three with $2,000 income should save $200; a family of four with $3,000 income should save $300; a family of four with $4,000 income should save $400; a family of four with $5,000 income should save $500 and a family of five with $10,000 income should save $1,000.

While it may be true that the average man in America should save 20 per cent of his personal income it does not follow by any means that a man who under certain circumstances only saves 10 per cent or even 5 per cent of his income is not just as thrifty as some other man who might save 50 per cent of his income.

There are rightful duties and obligations that must be met, and their fulfillment might preclude the saving of any considerable sums of money. On the other hand, a man might be so situated that even if he did lay aside 20 per cent of his income, he would be wasteful. Thrift is self-discipline; strength of character; efficiency and a common-sense administration of one's affairs.

CALIF. FAVOR WINE AND BEER WETS DECLARE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—The first returns to be tabulated here on a questionnaire sent to the voters by the Association against the Prohibition Amendment to secure an accurate estimate of public sentiment on the present prohibition laws, shows an overwhelming majority in favor of the return of high wines and beer, according to announcement today by Attorney William H. Metson, California chairman of the association. The first set of questionnaires was sent to citizens of Watsonville, which has formerly been known as one of the "dry" communities.

Of the 183 replies received by the association, Metson states that 149 favored modification as against 34 who were satisfied with the existing prohibition laws. Of these replies 49 were women, with 31 in favor of modification, and only 18 against it. Metson declares that the results of the questionnaire may be taken as a fair barometer of public sentiment throughout California in favor of modification.

The association maintains headquarters in the Balboa Building here, with E. E. Wilbur as executive secretary. The present aim of the body is to secure a modification of the Volstead act by Congress to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer.

JACKIE COOGAN SCORES HIT IN THE RAG MAN

Jackie Coogan's fourth contribution to Metro-Goldwyn productions was presented yesterday at the Richmond theatre when "The Rag Man" had its local premiere before a large and enthusiastic audience. "The Rag Man" is the best Jackie Coogan offering that Metro-Goldwyn has thus far distributed and this is said with no disparagement of the other presentations. "A Boy of Flanders," "Long Live the King" and "Little Robinson Crusoe." But "The Rag Man" is the best, or at least makes the most immediate hit because of the abundance of comedy episodes. These are touched up with sufficiency of thrills and tears to give the story by Willard Mack authentic value. Yesterday's audience rejoiced and laughed and chuckled all the way through this charming story. They followed Jackie's adventures from the time the orphanage burned down till Jackie, as little Tim Kelly, became the senior member of the firm of "Kelly and Ginsberg," the largest dealers in high class junk in New York.

The supporting roles are in the best of hands. Max Davidson as Ginsberg, the junk dealer who adopts Tim Kelly, gave a memorable performance, full of quaint appeal. Lydia Yeamans Titus as the Apple Woman mingled a breath of comedy effect with adroit touches of whimsy. Robert Edson gave a master performance of the crook reformed by Tim and William Conkin was sturdy and fine and persuasive in his role of the New York attorney and friend of poor Max Ginsberg. The production was directed by Edward Cline and supervised by Jack Coogan, Sr.

Other features on the same program include "Convict 13," Buster Keaton's funniest comedy; "Felix On The Farm," a Felix the cat cartoon.

NEW TRAP CAR RATE BENEFITS BAY SHIPPERS

The importance to shippers of freight in California, of the decision of the Railroad Commission in the so-called "trap car" case was emphasized yesterday by Seth Mann, attorney and manager of the traffic bureau of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber of Commerce was the complainant in the case insofar as it related to the Southern Pacific and Atchinson, Topeka and Santa Fe railroads. The decision of the railroad commission in favor of the shippers and the Chamber of Commerce ended a fight instituted two years ago.

As a result of the commission's decision, it is said by shippers, the existence of discrimination between this city and Oakland and other Eastbay cities in the matter of "trap car" rates has been eliminated.

"The commission," Mann asserted, "has ordered the Southern Pacific company and the Atchinson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company, who were the only railroad defendants in the suit of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, to establish on or before March 15, 1926, on notice of not less than 10 days, a charge of $2.50 per car for trap car service, subject to a minimum line haul revenue of $15.00 per car, and to cancel items now in the tariff in conflict with this adjustment."

The commission's decision also will affect the Western Pacific, Los Angeles and Salt Lake, the San Diego & Arizona, and Pacific Electric railway lines. In commenting on this Mann said: "This further order should result in the establishment at all stations in California of this service, so defined, and at all stations where there are interchange tracks between these different roads a reciprocal trap car service—that is to say these carriers are authorized to establish a service by which one carrier will receive from or deliver to a connecting carrier a trap car originating at spur tracks."

"The trap car service has many advantages to consignees and consignors in the convenience of disposition of the tonnage and elimination of the drayage charges," the commission's order read.

"On the other hand there are benefits to the shippers employ for out-going less than carload movement the equipment reaching the industry tracks carload freight. Carrier also has the benefit of a curtailment of space at its local terminal freight depots and the elimination of belated congestion during the peak of the shipping hours."

Civil War Looms Between Ladies At Washington

By CORINE RICH
(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—A war, real and none too good-natured, looms among the senatorial ladies and the wives of representatives, with a civil war within the latter group as a by-product.

The direct cause is the intended formation of a "Ladies of the House" luncheon club, planned along the lines of the well known "Ladies of the Senate."

The impending contest traces its actual thought indirect, reason, to the ancient rivalry between "Senate" and "House" wives. This Senate ladies, it is said, consider themselves a bit better than their official sisters.

Hence, the proposed "House" club will be a sort of "Show 'em" affair complete in its dignity and distinction if the one and only "Princess Alice" Roosevelt can be prevailed upon to preside.

The "Civil War" will be fought out in the sacred precincts of the congressional club, a time honored institution of which both Senate and house ladies are members. It brings together over the luncheon table—with very good success, it is said—the two groups.

If the house wives decided to form the new organization, they'll about disrupt the congressional club.

The "Ladies of the House" rumor, which has been current every season for the past few years, has gained considerable momentum of late.

There is "Princess Alice" to reckon with. If the "Ladies of the house" is to be as "Hifalutin" as its senatorial counterpart, which is presided over by Mrs. Dawes, the wife of the speaker must make her technical position as leader of the house ladies a real one.

But Mrs. Longworth's dislike for perfunctory appearances is well known and she might not get much "kick out of rubbing elbows weekly with her sisters. She is a recognized law unto herself.

While the "Ladies of the Senate" has about 100 members, a not unwieldy mass to serve lunch to, the "Ladies of the House" would take in between 400 and 500. And where to eat would be certainly a pertinent problem.

The Judicious Spending of Money--

Is the correct definition of "thrift." To be thrifty does not mean that one has to hoard their money, for the majority of us are required to spend most of our money to live. Those who save, then, are the thrifty ones, who by considerate spending secure their needs for less than those who buy recklessly. Because the prices in these Oakland stores are always fair and reasonable, saving money is an easy matter when you buy from them, so, when you have to shop outside of your own home town, the thrifty ones will find it to their advantage to shop with these dependable merchants in Oakland.

BRAY WINS IN MAIN EVENT AT LOCAL BOUTS

Frankie Bray (151) of Oakland easily outfought Battling Manning (150) in a ten round bout at the main event at the Richmond Athletic club bouts in Winters hall last night.

The boys put up a good fight, but Bray had Manning outclassed and gave him a few lessons in the fist art although Manning fought hard to overcome a lead which Bray started piling up in the fourth round.

Bray worked hard on Manning's wind but Manning kept his face covered preventing Bray from doing much damage there.

The first three rounds were even and Bray took in the rest with a possibility that the eighth was also even.

A good crowd was on hand to witness the bouts. The remainder of the bouts resulted as follows:

George D. Spencer, 125, of San Francisco, and Jimmy Valentino, 131, of New York, fought a fast four round semi-win-draw with Spencer taking every round.

These boys were evenly matched and gave a good exhibition of the fist art.

Mickey Brown, 131, of Richmond, won a popular four round decision over Mike Ramos, 128, of Oakland, in the special event.

Brown outfought Ramos all the way. The boys fought a good fight with Ramos swinging wild with haymakers.

Brown had Ramos groggy a number of times but couldn't get over a knock-out punch.

Jim Lee, 166, colored, of Oakland, didn't like the way Eddie Kruezer, 165, of San Francisco was punching him. After Kruezer had won the first round he set Lee down on the floor and Lee stayed there while the crowd booed him.

It was scheduled for four rounds. Bobby Woods, 150, of Oakland, made short work of Harry Murrin, 143, of Richmond, flooring him twice in the first round of their scheduled four round go.

Referee Billy Burke stopped it. After three rounds of hard slug-ging Cyclone Petr, colored, 131, of Oakland tapped over Pete Actis, 153, of Richmond, at the end of the third round in the curtain raiser.

The boys fought hard from the start and held a slugging match during the second and third rounds. Both boys were groggy at the end of the third and a light tap would have floored either but the colored lad fought the opening.

Billy Burke, trainer of the Oakland baseball club was third man in the ring. Ed "Pecky" Ryan, Coast League baseball umpire did the announcing.

State boxing inspector J. I. Her-rington of San Francisco, represented the state commission.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The St. Louis Cardinals under the leadership of Rogers Hornsby will enter the 1926 series with confidence that is growing every day.

Hornsby has just received word from his young pitcher, Eini Rheim, who reports that he is in the best of condition. Rheim started last year like the traditional bat out of Hades, but in the latter part of the season lost his effectiveness and the Cards lost more games. Rheim ran wild through the latter part of the season and seemed to have a habit of mis-ling the plate. Since then he has declared that he has gained control and will pitch real ball throughout the season.

TILDEN LOSES TO DOROTRA IN TWO SETS

(By GEORGE TIMPSON)
(By Universal Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—International day at the National indoor tennis championships proved a complete disaster for the Americans. One after another, the three on whom the United States relies for its tennis supremacy, fell before the play of the Frenchman.

The greatest sensation of the day was the victory of Jean Borotra, the "bouncing basque" of Biarritz, over "Big Bill" Tilden, universally hailed as the greatest tennis player of all time. It was a clean cut victory in straight sets 13-11, 6-3, with the volleys of Borotra the determining factor.

Tilden played good tennis too, but was completely outshone by the brilliant Frenchman.

Rene Lacoste had previously conquered Vincent Richards by outstaying him. The Olympic champion was unable to use his service with any consistency.

When he got it going it was effective, as his eight service aces showed. Lacoste scored an easy victory, 6-4, 6-2.

Jacques Brugnon completed the singles program by using his service to conquer Francis T. Hunter, 6-4, 6-4, a single break in each set accounting for the result.

The only ray of hope for the Americans came at the end when Dorotra and Lacoste were unable to make a stand against Tilden and Frederick C. Anderson. The attempts of the Frenchmen to pass them were total failures. Anderson greatly improved his recent performances and the match went to the Americans, 6-4, 6-1.

BERKELEY HIGH DEFEATS LOCAL CAGE TEAMS

The Richmond High school quarter back lost two games last night to the Berkeley high basketball team. The unlimited teams went down 24-29 while the 129's lost 17-11.

Both games were the last possible. Both teams played real basketball, from start to finish but the Berkeley team was bigger and better.

In both games the Richmond team started the scoring but did not down in the last few moments of play.

A usual Dyer was the star man for the Richmond Unlimiteds. He made nine points during the evening.

HELEN WILLS VICTOR IN BRISTOL SETS

(By Universal Service) BEAULIEU, France, Feb. 19.—In her two matches in the Bristol tournament today Helen Wills lost but one game. She first drove her way through Miss Wright of England, 6-0, 6-0, and later eliminated another British player, Mrs. Lycett, 6-0, 6-1.

The American champion's match with Miss Wright was merely a light workout, the first set requiring nine minutes. In her match against Mrs. Lycett, one of England's leading women players, the youthful champion found plenty of competition. Despite the top-sid score, the meeting developed many hotly contested volleys.

In her match today Miss Wills concentrated on a forcing style of play. Her severe drives and her overhead smashes which she overcame to developing, are expected by many critics, to form the burden of her attack when she next meets Suzanne.

The youthful champion also expressed herself as delighted with the weather change that has taken place in the past few days. The thermometer has jumped several degrees and as Miss Wills says, "It is a great deal more like California here now."

Bicycle Races Are Thrilling

(By Universal Service) CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—You have heard people talk about thrills and that they just live for the thrill they get out of life. Well, believe it or not there couldn't possibly be any thrill like a bicycle race. There is one of the six day affairs going on in this town now. It ends tomorrow night.

Well the Indianapolis auto races, the Kentucky Derby at Louisville, the World Series, Charlie Paddock and Red Grange are all rolled into one in this sport.

Now, there's speed, that's Indianapolis; there's jockeying for position, that's the derby; there's a big crowd, that's the World Series; there's sprinting, that's Charlie Paddock; and there's rooting, that's Red Grange.

And, then, most of all, there's the roared arena where such men as Jack Dempsey occasionally show their wares, for of all the hazards why it was worse than a poker game. It's hard to understand how the riders breathe, but I guess they do for they keep going 22 hours a day for six days, and science says that can't be done without a fresh supply.

S. F. PREPARES FOR 100,000 HOME BUILDERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—The city of San Francisco is going to score a 100,000 home builders through another one of its famous efforts to open up 1200 acres of home sites for its new 100,000 new residents. The work of driving the new cut more than 1,000 feet from portal to portal underneath Buena Vista park, will begin next June and the total cost is estimated at $1,651,988.

City Engineer M. M. O'Shaughnessy estimated that the completion of the tunnel will occupy 450 days of actual work.

This, the newest of San Francisco's tunnels, will be financed by a tax assessment on the district benefited. The maximum assessment will approximate 3 cents per square foot and the minimum assessment 1 1/2 cents per square foot. The assessment may be paid in cash or in ten annual installments.

The Sunset tunnel will give San Francisco another municipal car line direct from the Ferry building on the waterfront across the heart of San Francisco to the ocean, and will link up with the other municipal lines. Other tunnels which San Francisco has been forced to bore through its hills to provide room for its ever expanding population are the Twin Peaks tunnel 2 1/4 miles long at a cost of $1,250,000, and the Stockton Street tunnel 911 feet long at a cost of $656,000.

The Twin Peaks tunnel took three years to construct and affords a double track railway and medium to the city's highest hills to the great new residential districts which have sprung up since the tunnels completion.

The new Sunset tunnel, like the Twin Peaks and Stockton street tunnels will be of concrete, 42 1/2 feet long, 25 feet wide, 18 feet high above rail grade, and will be constructed on a 3 percent grade. The engineers estimate that 2400 lineal feet of the road will be through rock and the remainder through yielding ground. When the tunnel is completed it will mean that San Francisco will have invested that time in tunneling her hills a total of $6,557,988.

with a title! I venture he'd use his fists for me, too, if I needed them."

When her attorney, Arthur Garfield Hays arrived at the Island with the good news that she had obtained her Habeas Corpus Writ, he noticed that she seemed unusually cheerful; but it was not until he departed that she told the reason. Picking up a black-bound book in that detention room, she opened it, saying:

"When I arose this morning I was feeling blue; fog outside, and all that I picked up this Bible, opened it at random. My eyes fell on that age-old line:

"Let not your heart be troubled."

Anyway, the Aquitania sails to-morrow, and that cozy little cabin so thoughtfully provided for her will be vacant."

Foods That Are Health Builders

IN the past, people were inclined to eat what they wanted, regardless of whether it was good for them, and get away with it because of their active, physical lives. But we moderns, who get so much exercise, are learning that we need to eat foods which will keep the system open and cleansed from poisonous waste matter.

AGITATION FOR SACRAMENTO WATER SUPPLY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Agitation before congress for the Boulder Dam project on the Colorado River has responded the whole country, particularly the agricultural magazines of the state. In a recent article contributed to the California Cultivator, Professor Frank Adams, of the College of Agriculture, University of California, pointed out that the Sacramento Valley, which has the most voluminous water supply of any great agricultural section of California, has the least development of irrigation, either compared with similar sections, due to adverse annual rainfall which permits the growth of grain under dry farming methods, rather than the existence of very large ranches whose owners are still willing to accept the small return per acre which that type of farming yields.

The Sacramento Valley, where gold was first discovered in California and which met the first rush of immigration, had only 640,000 acres of land under irrigation when the 1913 irrigation census was taken, although the San Joaquin Valley to the south, virtually equal in area, had 2,100,000 acres under irrigation from the San Joaquin River system, and southern California had in excess of 1,000,000 acres. The Sacramento River, fed from the High Sierras, has a mean discharge into San Francisco Bay of more than 25,000,000 acre feet annually. Another of the reasons for the lack of irrigation development along the Sacramento valley, the extreme length of the valley, more than 200 miles, and the difficulty of organizing the various districts within that long section of a proposition, necessity demands, however, this will be done.

Professor Adams also discussed the possibility of southern California turning to the great central and northern basins of the state for more water. There has been discussion of a proposition to draw water from the upper Kern River and other southern San Joaquin Valley streams into southern California, although it is admitted this would provoke a sharp clash of interests between the farmers of the great central basin and Los Angeles interests.

Another plan which has been surveyed was proposed by Colonel R. H. Marshall, although it is admitted the United States Geological Survey. In short, Colonel Marshall's plan was to ring the two basins of the Sacramento River at a point near Redding to the north as far south as Bakersfield, and to collect into this great irrigation system, through impounding the Sierra Nevada Mountains, sources of supply all of the necessary water from California's great watershed. Under this plan it was estimated that the central and northern portions of the state could solve the pressing water supply problem of southern California. This plan has the dignity of age, as it was first broached during the administration of President Grant and the first survey located at that time.

The Sacramento River at the present time is the chief runoff for the snow-water and rains of the whole western slope of the northern Sierra Nevada Mountains. The ratio of water supply as between the Sacramento and the San Joaquin valleys is estimated at 3.1 to 1.

Farmers of the Sacramento Valley, like citizens of San Francisco, never worry about water. It is theirs for the taking as long as nature mingles the mountains with snow and man is willing to spend the money to impound and regulate the run-off. The great Hetch-Hetchy project, progressing year by year to completion, guarantees San Francisco plentiful municipal water and power for many years to come from the reaches of the Sierras billions of gallons of water of which San Francisco has not yet used a drop.

*RAGS WANTED—

WITNESS SAYS HE SAW BROWN KILL TEXAN

Before the court of Judge H. V. Alvarado at Martinez yesterday John Battiste, a witness in the trial of Otto Brown, colored, who is charged with the murder of Wesley Harmon, declared that the last time he saw Brown "he was killing a man."

Battiste, who was located in Victorville several days ago by Sheriff R. R. Veale, declares that he was a witness to the slaying of Louis McGee in Dallas, Texas in 1900, which killing is now laid at the door of Brown.

That Brown, who was then living under the name of Wilson, had a bad reputation for "peace and quiet" was charged by Mrs. C. L. Blythe, another of the witnesses discovered by Veale, who testified that she went to school with Brown.

Dr. E. O. Heinrich, a criminologist, who has made a reputation throughout the country as a scientific detective, testified yesterday morning, that the bullet that was fired from Brown's body and the one that was found in the fourth step of the second flight of stairs at the Dillon hotel at Pittsburg, were fired from the same revolver.

The prosecution was to show by this testimony the impossibility of bullets to be found in their respective locations, if fired, as Brown maintains, at a man on the same level with himself.

It was previously testified by Dr. E. W. Merrithew and Dr. Hamlin, that a wound such as inflicted upon Harmon would have caused instant death.

Taking the witness stand in his own behalf, Brown freely admitted the killing, but declared that he was coming toward him when he fired and only after he had thought he was going to draw a gun, Brown fired.

Brown strongly denies that he has ever been in Dallas or has ever killed a man there.

Witnesses at the court declared that Brown killed a white man at Dallas in a fight over a damaged girl. It is alleged that Brown fled immediately after the murder.

On Friday afternoon the jury in the case was taken to the scenes of the murder at the Dillon hotel, Pittsburg. The jury and court attaches went under a heavy guard of Sheriff Veale and a group of deputies.

he said. "I have not received a single complaint from the business men of San Diego over the border closing."

"San Diego would be much better off without Tia Juana," Mayor Bacon concluded.

Tia Juana is realizing, however, that with its gates closed to San Diegoans and other visitors at 6 P. M. it is being strangled into financial ruin.

The 6 P. M. closing order has curtailed the tremendous revenue that reverts after nightfall from American pockets to the cash registers in the Tia Juana bars and other dens of iniquity.

Petitions are being circulated and meetings are being held in Tia Juana, appealing to President Coolidge and Washington officials to rescind the 6 o'clock closing order. One petition declares "the constitutional guarantee of protection for American citizens has been destroyed by the early closing order."
